

Emergency funds open 16 jobs in two cities

Livermore will be able to hire 12 city employees while Pleasanton has received funding for four from the federal government's Emergency Jobs and Unemployment Assistance Act.

Both cities currently are accepting applications for the newly created positions, which will be funded through Dec. 31, 1975.

Livermore is advertising for five laborers in the Streets Department; five laborers in the Parks and Trees Department, and two clerk-typists, one for the Police Department and one for City Hall with the city clerk's office.

The laborers will earn $3.50 an hour, or $140 per week and a monthly salary of $607.

The clerk-typists' salary still is under consideration but indications are that they will earn $2.75 an hour for a weekly salary of $110, or $476 monthly. The hourly rate could be increased, according to Personnel Officer Peter Kolster.

All job applicants must be unemployed for at least 30 days and preference will be awarded to Viet Nam era veterans. Applicants need not be from the hiring city.

The laborers must be able to perform physical labor and have at least an eighth grade education.

Clerk-typists must type 45 to 50 words-per-minute and have one year of experience in typing or general clerical work. They should have a high school diploma or the equivalent.

Livermore's total federal allocation is $119,509.

PLEASANTON Pleasanton has received $32,000 from the Assistance Act with promises of additional money to fund another employee, bringing its total to four.

Pleasanton will hire one building maintenance person within the Department of Public Safety at $726 per month. A high school education is not required but some experience is necessary.

Also to be hired are two administrative aides, one to the city's finance director and assistant to the city manager, James Walker and one to Bob Harris, director of planning.

The aides will be paid $825 per month. The finance administrative aide must have a BS or BA in business administration or public administration and accounting. The planning aide must have a BS or BA in planning, public administration, geography and/or economics.

A combination of education and experience also will be accepted.

The fourth position is that of police assistant, paying $708 per month and requiring some clerical experience and a high school degree.

All applicants must be unemployed for a minimum of 30 days and preference will go to Viet Nam era veterans, as required by the federal Act. Applicants need not be from Pleasanton.

Livermore tentatively has designated Jan. 17 as the last day for accepting applications. All 12 employees will be hired before the end of the month, according to Kolster.

Pleasanton's Personnel Manager Larry Miller has not yet set a final date for that city's applications. He is waiting until he receives word of final approval of the funds before establishing application and hiring deadlines.

Miller added that the Act requires use of the funds within 30 days but is unclear as to when the 30 day period becomes effective.

Applications for Livermore employment are available at City Hall, 2250 First St. (corner of N. Livermore Avenue), from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Phone is 447-2100.

Pleasanton applications are at the Civic Center, 200 Bernal Avenue, Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Phone is 846-3202.

Livermore originally was going to hire only 11 employees with the available money under the Public Service Employee Program, explained Kolster.

However, under this program employees must be awarded fringe benefits while under the Work Experience Program no fringe benefits are included.

Thus, explained Kolster, Livermore will be hiring personnel under the latter program, enabling the city to hire one additional employee with the freed money.

TAKE FIVE

Six sturdy elephants, all in a row, take a break for the "munchies," as the Circus Vargas "winters" at the County Fairgrounds, Pleasanton. The chimps, camels, horses, tigers, lions, and other trappings of the circus trade, will NOT BE PERFORMING, just resting for 10 days, according to spokesmen.

Ann Henderson seeks seat to be vacated by husband

"My qualifications are every bit as impressive as his" says Ann Henderson, one of five candidates pursuing three seats on the Murray Elementary School District Board of Trustees, but the only one whose husband is winding up an eight year term in March.

The "he" Mrs. Henderson is referring to is John Henderson, her husband, who is stepping down due to increasing business commitments that keep him from devoting as much time to the district as he would like.

Ann, however, is not trying to run on his name. Her background as a teacher and a mother give her insights her husband might not have, she feels. Her years as a teacher were spent in San Francisco but surprisingly she is not wholeheartedly in favor of increasing teacher salaries.

"I'd rather see less salary and better tools to work with," she says. "I think there are a lot of needs in the Murray district and not all of them are related to teachers."

Educationally, she thinks fundamentals are important and if the proposed revenue limit increase on March 4 fails to pass, she feels cuts should come in fringe programs.

She also feels the present board's "approach to vandalism is uncreative". She has a plan (which she cheerfully acknowledges came partly from her 13 year old son) to cut vandalism in schools by offering the students a flat sum of money at the start of the year.

That sum would be equal to the average amount the district spent on vandalism at that school over the last few years. The students could vote on how to spend the money in the school but would only receive the amount left over after expenses for vandalism during the year were deducted.

"I think I can come up with other ideas like this" says Henderson.

"It's not as if I'm ignorant" she concludes. "I know what I'm getting into."

Kottinger Place project earns applause from AIA

Kottinger Place, Pleasanton's low income housing complex for the elderly, has won praise from the American Institute of Architects for a design that took the elderly's needs and desires into account.

In an article first printed in the AIA Journal and later reprinted in the national Journal of Housing, AIA Journal Editor Don Canty gives the complex high marks for its design.

"Kottinger Place has won awards for its architectural quality," Canty writes, "but perhaps more important" are the little things such as adequate closet space. "Adequate closets may not seem the stuff of which architecture is made," he continues, "but they are the kind of small things that make large difference in the everyday lives of a building's users."

The complex was designed by the Berkeley firm of Hirshen, Gammill, Trumbo & Cook.

Marc Elliot not a stranger to politics

By PAT WIDDER Marc Elliot has never run for an elective office before but he is certainly no stranger to politics.

Since January of last year until Assemblyman Carlos Bee's sudden death Nov. 29, Elliot served as Bee's senior administrative assistant and prior to that, he was employed as a lobbyist in Sacramento for the California Dental Association. Elliot, 32, also has had experience as a newspaper reporter and a management consultant.

He characterizes himself as a Bobby Kennedy Democrat, who is "more liberal in people areas and more conservative in money areas". He joined the Democratic Party in 1971 and was registered as an Independent prior to then.

Elliot's campaign for assembly received an unexpected boost recently when the Alameda branch of the California Teachers' Association, which covers Alameda and Contra Costa counties, bestowed its endorsement on him.

He considers that a "meaningful endorsement" and said "one of the biggest tasks besides jobs and the economy is education." He added, California education is currently ranked about 18th in the nation and he "would like to see it back in the number one spot." If the quality of education "deteriorates," Elliot added, "we will start seeing more social problems."

Elliot considers many of the new trends in education valid but believes, "We shouldn't try new techniques without learning the basics. With new methods," he added, "there is always a lot of groping and fumbling. We may have gone too fast with too little experience."

As for unification, Elliot believes school systems within any one community should be consolidated and cited Livermore as a fine example. He criticized, however, the state's now defunct penalty-bonus system of pushing unification in the Murray and Pleasanton school districts. "I think the voters should be allowed to decide," he said. I wouldn't mandate unification. The state should not ramrod something through that the voters don't want."

Elliot also believes the local community should have "the right to determine their own destinies. He noted the "lowest level of decision making is the most cost effective and personable" and the state government should service city and county governments. As it is now, Elliot added, local governments are the "tools" of state government. "I think we've gotten too far away from the home rule concept," he said.

Elliot feels problems such as mass transit need to be looked at statewide but decisions should be left as much as possible to local governments. "We need to regionalize to provide stimulation and control," he added, "but not to ramrod things through. I do not want to see local governments railroaded."

On the issue of growth, Elliot believes communities should be able to make that decision. "You can't make state laws to prevent growth," he said, "but it should not be at the expense of the people already living there." Referring to Harlan Geldermann's Proposed New Town in the Las Positas Valley, Elliot said, "If Geldermann can go in without increasing the taxes in Pleasanton and Livermore, can solve its own municipal problems and preserve the quality of life in the other communities, I see nothing wrong with it."

He also would like to revise current assessment practices, which tax agricultural land on its potential use rather than current use and consequently, forces many ranchers out of business, and would like to see a reallocation of state income taxes. "I would like to close the loopholes and charge a flat percentage tax," he said. "For example, charge 10 percent on all incomes up to $30,000 and then increase that percentage increment above $30,000. There would be no deductions and no loopholes."

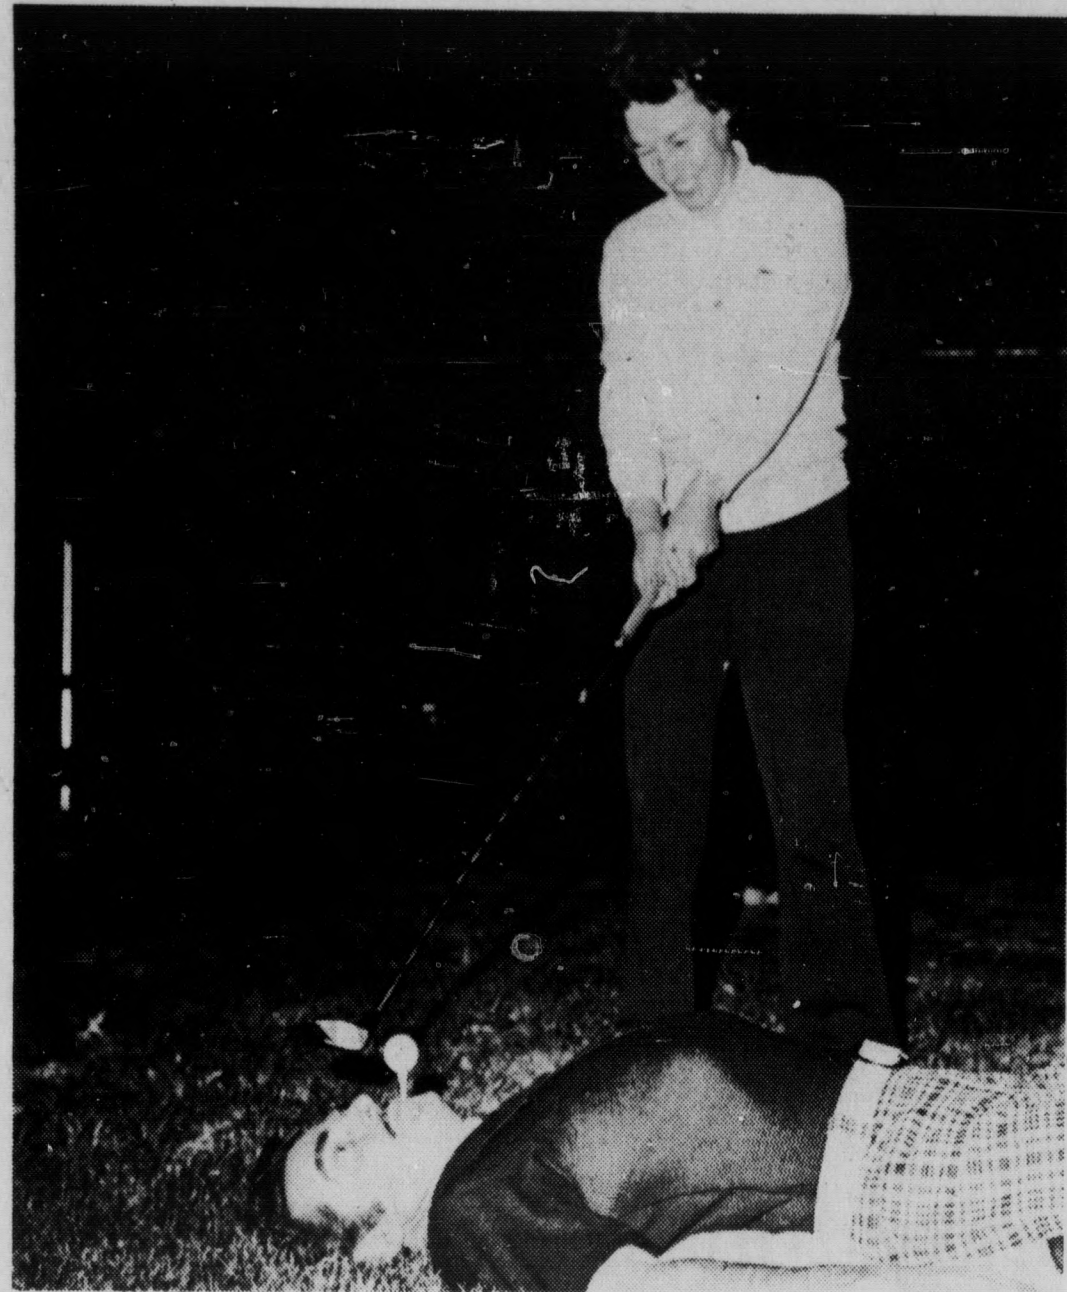

Elliot and his wife live in Pleasanton.

An overloaded electrical circuit, and a pre-Christmas fire that left a family of three homeless, has now resulted in the razing of that 105-year-old cottage. "The city wouldn't let us repair the old house," reported Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Aldrich, who had been renting out that dwelling at 4637 Second Street in Pleasanton. The Aldriches plan to build a new three-bedroom dwelling on the site.

San Ramon man will war against morals debt

SAN RAMON — The San Ramon man who attempted two years ago to save the world's wetlands is now waging a war against immorality, permissiveness and the national debt.

Richard C. Collins is launching a campaign to reintroduce "morality" in the system which he says suffers economically and spiritually because of the onslaught of modern permissiveness.

Collins in outlining his concerns and attacks on America's problems says the country's problems will not be solved until "expediency and self indulgence" are erased to make room for the building of "moral character values."

The government should become actively involved in this building through a wide range of national programs including those in the schools which would teach children proper values.

Calling for the federal government to "get into the morals business," Collins says the corruption of government can be traced to the corruption of its citizens.

"Since the cost of government can be traced directly to the character of its citizens, if follows that government must obligate itself to implant strong moral values into the people, for its own best interests and to reduce its own costs," he says.

"For the above reasons, I propose that government immediately prepare a program to teach, to indoctrinate, to expose, to each and every citizen the values of honor, justice, truth, compassion, diligence, integrity, service, courtesy, responsibility, dignity, prudence, respect and all the other virtues," Collins admits teaching everyone to be upstanding will not be an easy task but if the plan succeeds "The results are permanent and it could be the biggest payoff in history."

The "Public Enemy No. 1" is "depravity and moral degeneration," he says "Nothing short of full scale war can be tolerated against a culture that daily saps our strength and erodes our ability and capacity to survive as a nation."

Collins says the "business of teaching morals" belongs to the government.

Pleasanton thief eats and runs

A new vogue in burglaries may be starting in Pleasanton.

An "eat and run" burglar struck the home of Douglas M. Omand, 34, Wednesday, ate lunch, wound the mantle clock, and stole a $150 necklace.

Omand, a Palo Alto banker, told Pleasanton police his daughter inadvertently left open the garage door of their 5442 Northway Rd., home on her way to school, and when she returned at 2:45 p.m. she found dishes in the sink and a half-pound of hamburger missing.

Upon further investigation, Omand discovered a $150 diamond necklace missing from a dresser drawer and noted the antique mantle clock, which had not been working that morning, wound and working.

Police believe the thief cooked and ate the hamburger before burglarizing the home. The dishes were not washed.

Henrietta Wetmore Mendenhall

Sentinel over Alameda County

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a series featuring the unique women in the history of the valley in honor of International Women's Year.

By JEAN McKENNA

From the Crane Ridge Lookout, Henrietta Mendenhall watched the lights wink on in the town of Livermore 15 miles away as dusk approached.

Her two boys and their friends were setting up cots for sleeping outside where they could take advantage of the cool breeze which was quickly dispelling the heat of the day. It was a good night for storytelling, she decided, and the boys had earned an evening's entertainment chopping wood for her stove.

She was about to step inside the cabin to get a book, when a thin curling streak rising from a canyon below caught her eye.

After several seconds of calm and deliberate observation, Henrietta had assessed the situation and quickly made her way to the phone inside the cabin to report a fire. John McGlinchey, the county fire warden, answered the call at the firehouse in Livermore.

She briefly and accurately pinpointed the location of the fire, and estimated its strength: Yes, Section 19, on Crane Ridge itself, probably near the 14-Mile House. They could bring the fire truck up Mines Road. Having dispatched her responsibility for the moment, Henrietta would continue to survey the area from the lookout. And hope her warning had come in time.

After a sleepless night, it appeared to Henrietta that the fire had been contained. But as the morning progressed, the fire again flared up, and far more intensely.

By phone she learned that the flames had jumped a creek and were fast burning out of control in the direction of the lookout.

The blaze spread within two miles of the lookout cabin, where the boys slept in their clothes, ready to run if a shift in wind should bring the fire closer. Henrietta, too, slept in her clothes and got little sleep for over a week as the fire destroyed miles of range all the way to Thomas Gulch in San Joaquin County.

It was one of the biggest range fires in the history of the Alameda County Fire Patrol, maintained the Crane Lookout from 1926 to 1940, that most of the fires at the time never became so destructive.

The daughter of the first fire warden, Mary McGlinchey the $30 a month she was paid to teach during the remainder of the year. Her husband was working periodically selling firewood, or doing odd jobs.

Living conditions in the small three-room cabin on Crane Ridge were very primitive, with the only modern convenience the all-important telephone. Water had to be hauled by donkey from a spring below a steep incline half a mile away. The cabin was lit with kerosene lamps, and all cooking was done over a wood-burning stove.

A cow and several horses were kept on the acre, and chickens were available from the Holmes barn near-by. The only other buildings were a stone "cooler" for storage and the outhouse, equipped with Sears catalogue, which would shake in the strong chilly winds that swept the ridge.

Henrietta brought her two boys, Jack and Charles, with her to help with chores, and also to give them something of a vacation away from home. When school was out for the summer, they were often joined by several other boys and her daughter, Jessie.

Having earned a teaching certificate upon graduation

She was the best fire patrol lookout the department ever had!

occurring in the late 1920's. The Connelly ranch was one of the hardest hit, so oldtimers simply refer to the fire as "the Connelly fire," although many other ranchers saw acres of range and watershed on their property destroyed.

However, it is to the credit of Henrietta Mendenhall, who remembers her father declaring that Mrs. Mendenhall was "the best fire patrol lookout the department ever had." She knew the countryside so well, that her estimate of the location of a fire was always accurate. She responded so quickly to the signs of a fire, that she often reported a fire right under the nose of an unsuspecting ranchowner.

Henrietta took her responsibilities very seriously, as she was paid $1000 for maintaining the lookout during the dry season, usually from May until October. The money she earned helped her family through the Depression, and was considerably more than

TED MANN, DOUG RULEY, MARCELLINE MAHERN Master of Ceremonies, Captain of the Krewe and general chairman get together to outfit the captain in an authentic Mardi Gras costume.

Mardi Gras m.c. is Ted Mann

Ted Mann, vice president-manager of Franklin Savings and Loan, Pleasanton, has been chosen by the Pleasanton Junior Women's Club to act as Master of Ceremonies for the 1975 Mardi Gras Ball to be held on Saturday, Feb. 8 at Castlewood Country Club from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. Doug Ruley will serve as Captain of the Krewe.

Persons attending the Ball who have not had an opportunity to support their candidate through financial donation may do so during the no-host cocktails which begins at 8 p.m. Ceremonies leading up to the climax of the evening, the announcement of the king and queen, will begin at 10 p.m.

A buffet of cold canapés, hot hors d'oeuvres and roast beef will be served until midnight.

Tickets at an $18 donation per couple, will go on sale, Monday, Jan. 13 at 8 a.m. at the home of Tommie Barnes, 2614 Willowen Way, on a first come, first serve basis.

Authentic Mardi Gras costumes are also available for men to rent for $5. For costume information, call Cheryl Hayes, 846-3523.

Miles from town, the lookout was rarely lonely for Henrietta. The mail truck came once a week, and ranchers herding cattle in the vicinity would often stop at the lookout.

And on Sundays, family and friends would brave the narrow and gutted Mines Road to enjoy the spectacular view from the peak. On a clear day, the San Francisco Bay could be sighted to the north, and to the west, Stockton and sometimes the Sierras were seen. Henrietta would serve chicken and dumplings cooked over her wood stove to Sunday guests who often slept in a tent overnight.

During World War II Henrietta took on the additional duty of reporting aircraft sighted, often rising in the middle of the night at the sound of an approaching motor. She is also credited with having killed a rattlesnake with a kitchen fork in the cabin.

Maintaining a lookout was an unusual job for a woman in those days (she was probably the first woman in the California fire patrol), but Henrietta was not afraid to be different. A heavy-set woman most often seen in overalls and a visor cap while working, she was well-educated and very much aware.

Born in Pleasanton in 1880 to the Wetmore family (her father and uncle founded Crest Blanca Winery), she was raised in Stockton and considered herself a "city girl." But she didn't hesitate to marry Ernest Mendenhall, a rancher, and live in a rural area.

Her twin boys were born with difficulty and sickly. But soon after their birth she determined to accept the challenge of caring for them herself on an isolated ranch, 14 miles from help.

But her greatest challenge was the fire patrol, a job she maintained for several years after she had taken seriously ill, and which she left reluctantly. Her daughter believes she would have been called a "women's libber," and she remains one of the most unique women in the history of the valley.

Our thanks to those who provided information for this story: Mrs. Jessie Mendenhall Shields, Jack Mendenhall, James McGlinchey and Herb Hagemann.

An Editorial

Question: When is a city hall financial venture of critical concern to the public? Question: How far might a public body go in socializing before the citizenry feels cut off from those deliberations?

These two items recent gained attention in The Times. Our own critical comment prompted some sharp criticism in return from the officials most concerned. We thought the debate worth sharing with a larger segment of the valley populace.

First, there is that Jan. 23 meeting planned by the Congress of Valley Agencies, the successor to the late and unsuccessful Valley Planning Committee. In order to renew their own interest in that "total valley" concept, and perhaps to woo attention from the press and populace, COVA set its first official gathering as a dinner, $4.50 a plate; cocktails, dinner and business, in that order.

Our objection to that format is not new, and perhaps is worth repeating here. Public assemblies of public bodies must be that; any restrictions, fringes, costs or settings that even suggest the public is to be discouraged from participating are in violation of the spirit, if not the letter, of laws passed to protect the public's interest in and access to those functions. We contend that dinner and cocktails, at whatever price and regardless of the location, are not conducive to such free and open assemblies.

Helen Tirsell, as an incumbent member of the Livermore city council, is among those "working very hard to bring new life to the concept of valley planning, and to encourage the press and the public to share in that effort." We commend Ms. Tirsell for her energy. We don't even object to various governmental bodies or members thereof socializing, when such comradery is the announced function of a specific gathering.

But if a "congress of valley agencies" must lean on cocktails and dinner as the only means of instilling public and political interest in launching that new venture, then we must all wonder if COVA has any merit at all. Let the party come after this new agency has proven itself.

The matter of investing public funds in private ventures arises out of the specific example of Livermore's problems with that "Crosswinds Restaurant," the dining facility operated as part of the city-owned municipal golf course. Without recalling the details of one reader's criticism of an apparent "$16,000 city subsidy for one restaurant while others (on P Street) are forced out of business," still the complaint has some merit.

Yes, we know the golf course and its restaurant are owned by the city, while Taco Bell and El Pepe are not. We also know that the latter two establishments enjoy profit and popular patronage while still paying considerable city taxes. The "Crosswinds" fails on all three of those counts.

The question here is not really the City of Livermore's "right to operate a restaurant as an essential part of the golf course the city owns." The point is rather the sad history of that restaurant — both financially and gastronomically. It suggests that city hall does not belong in the restaurant business, and indicates that Livermore might do well to pursue the idea of private ownership for that golf course also, somewhere down the line.

Building streets and underpasses in reasonable time and while also serving the taxpaying members of the community is city hall's primary function. Perhaps that is what the "P Street critics" are trying to say. On that score we readily agree. There is nothing in the recent history of municipal endeavor in Livermore or Pleasanton to suggest that those bastions of local bureaucracy have suddenly acquired the expertise, the time or the money to start dabbling in the uncertainties of the market place.

Letters to the editor

Fair and reasonable?

Editor, The Times:

As a registered Democrat I am very much opposed to Bill Vandenberg running for California Assembly. He states in his flyer that he has had much experience as a college administrator of listening to many sides of a question and making fair and reasonable judgements and that he will carry this ability to the Assembly to assure good Government for all the people in this district.

I am a voter and taxpayer in this district and I would like to ask Mr. Vandenberg if he remembers the "fair and reasonable" judgement he made on May 26, 1967 when he terminated two campus police officers because of a difference of philosophy (as he put it). The officers felt that students guilty of committing felonious crimes should be arrested the same as would happen if committed off campus. The two officers were not reprimanded by their Chief either orally or in writing yet the two officers were both terminated as Mr. Vandenberg felt it was his prerogative to have only those arrested whom HE wanted arrested — no others! At this time he tried to have the Chief and another officer with tenure terminated — he was not successful in this maneuver.

After all this the Chief of the Campus Police was told that he would no longer hire personnel for his department nor was he to make any policies. All directives to the Campus Police would come from Dean Wm. Vandenberg to Mr. Rodda (Building and Grounds Superintendent) and then to the Chief.

I still maintain that it is unconstitutional and discriminatory for anyone on probation to be terminated without just cause proven by a hearing. And I still believe that the Chief of the Campus Police should do the firing or termination of any of his employees. To add insult to injury I was replaced by a man whom the Chief had formerly dismissed — this replacement was initiated by Wm. Vandenberg.

Is this the type of man we want to represent us in the Assembly?

"Is There a Doctor in the House?"

The week in retrospect

BART is dawdling

What's with some of the members of the newly-constituted Bay Area Rapid Transit District Board of Directors?

It seems some are more interested in building their own little kingdoms than trying to get the system to operate efficiently.

I refer particularly to Richard Clark, board president, and a couple of the San Francisco directors. It was this devious little group that originated the idea of a dinner for BART brass and representatives of corporations doing business with BART.

Director Robert Allen of Livermore cried "foul" on that scheme and the matter sort of fell by the wayside... to Clark's displeasure.

The latest dido concerns Clark's efforts to have the board approve an administrative assistant position at a starting salary of $15,000 per year. Clark's idea, as we understand it, is to have the administrative assistant do the board president's leg work. It has also been alleged that Clark was seeking to have his campaign aide, a Jerry Jackson, put into the position... sort of a reward for a job well done during the campaign which saw Clark easily win in his district.

The matter has bounced back and forth between the board's administration committee and the full board. Thursday, it was bounced back to the committee... for a study of which present BART staff members might already be working behind-the-scenes for the board.

Allen, the valley rep who has rapidly become the conscience of the board, put a high, hard one straight down the middle at board directors Thursday. And, by golly, it almost passed!

What Allen proposed was that directors give up their $250 per month salaries and put that money toward an aide's salary.

The motion would have passed had it not been for Contra Costa director Nello Bianco of Richmond who abstained from voting.

Joining Allen in voting for the motion were James Hill, Walnut Creek; John Glenn, Fremont; and Clark.

Voting against the motion were San Francisco directors Ella Hill Hutch, John Kirkwood and Elmer Cooper and Harvey Glasser of Alameda.

As a Times bureau staffer noted, Bianco tried to explain his abstention to the hoots of fellow directors. Later he said, "If I changed my vote there'd be a heart attack up here."

Ms. Hutch was later heard to say, "My constituents are entitled to get a response that isn't typed by my legal secretary. I didn't sign on for this job full time at $250 a month. This is a part-time job."

Well, I guess we've got to admit that $250 a month is a paltry sum... and to ask them to have their underlings type out responses is certainly pushing things!

It is my belief, and I think it is shared by many others, that these BART directors were elected to serve their constituents. Now, it seems, some are putting the position on a "you'll-get-as-much-service-from-me-as-$250-deserves."

If any of these directors, including Ms. Hutch Hill, feel they cannot serve their constituents for the remuneration they are now getting, it is this writer's opinion that they consider resigning... and make way for someone who truly has the public at heart.

As Acting BART General Manager Lawrence Dahms has noted, his executive assistant, a Phillip Ormsbee, has been ordered to handle all requests of the directors. That includes helping with all questions of constituents.

And by the way, Ormsbee is paid $25,000 a year! For that rather princely sum, I believe Mr. Ormsbee can do a very effective job of handling the questions of the directors' constituents.

This writer believes the board should concentrate on getting the BART system to work effectively and stop this constant dawdling and wrangling over hiring of high-priced aides.

Sound and Fury

Walt Hecox

Saturday the sun hung like polished brass in the south and west while I drove to Livermore and my quarterly date with the barber.

I am an orderly fellow and well organized. I visit the barber at least four times a year whether I need it or not.

The truth is Skeeter is supposed to remind me I need to visit a tonsorial establishment. When hair starts hitting my ears I know she has neglected her duty.

"But I like the way it curls back over your neck when it gets long," she tells me.

I don't like the way it curls back over my neck. And its my neck, isn't it?

A day like Saturday and I have no real quarrel with anyone on this tired old globe.

The air is clear as water from a mountain spring and nippy as a jigger of mountain dew.

Who cares if Helen Tirsell opened Friday morning with some unhappy thoughts about the morning's editorial page? What does it matter that most of the lunch period was consumed by a dressing down from Bill Parness.

They are fine folks at their best. We all get in a little snit now and then. Having read Mr. John Edmonds' fine editorial which is elsewhere on this page I imagine someone is in a snit this morning.

That is the way of this tired old globe, even on a Saturday morning so fine I can't find a single unhappy thought.

Pat Brosnan is in his barber shop and God is in his heaven. A place for everything and everything in its place.

Norm Volponi is not in his barber shop. Success will be the death of that young man. His L Street "Family Billiard Parlor" is doing so well he has no time to cut hair.

Mel Lemos has purchased the barbershop. He is an enterprising young fellow who may one day own a pool hall of his own.

Unfortunately Mel is not nearly as enterprising as Brosnan. I had to call him long distance to get the proper spelling of his name. Believe me I never have that trouble with Brosnan.

"BROS N A N" He gives me a refresher course each time I cross his path. A brush up on the spelling of a simple Irish handle.

Pat can spot a morsel of publicity like a red tailed hawk hunting field mice. He works side by side with John Dutra, the younger Dutra that is, heir to one of Livermore's larger tonsorial emporiums.

"Have you seen my new posters?" Pat inquired softly, his tones dulcet and round as a triphammer in a boiler factory. "They are the originals."

The posters announced the opening of the Max Baer gym in Livermore. A brand new building at the corner of First and L Streets.

Max was advertised as the first performer. To be followed by his king sized younger brother, Buddy. The older Baer was heavyweight champion of the world at the time.

"Aw, come on, Pat. You're not that old," I objected. "You know who I mean," Pat said sternly.

He meant Manuel Mederios. I am not about to pick Livermore's top all time barber. But that was one hell of a compliment coming from Pat.

By some strange coincidence, Bob Patterson was in the shop at the time. When I arrived in the valley Bob was the mayor of Livermore. Manuel was a member of the city council.

A different Livermore in those days. A different valley.

Back in the days of yore Manuel promoted amateur fights in Livermore. Somewhere along the line he discovered Max Baer, a muscular farmer who lived at a place called Twin Oaks about where the southern edge of Sunset East extends today.

There are people who said Baer could knock down a steer with a single punch. Manuel was not among them.

"Maybe he did once, but I don't know about it," he told me. "Max was a very strong boy, a nice boy," he concluded.

It was my privilege to know Manuel and chat with him about Max in his glory days.

Mederios traveled a long way from his days as a fight promoting barber in the mid-thirties. He too was mayor of Livermore. Frankly I wish he was around today. There would be a little life on the city council then. I think I would travel to Livermore each Monday night just to watch the show. The thought of Manuel tangling with Helen Tirsell is one which tickles the fancy of this old man.

Believe it or not I thought about all those things while shaking hands with Bob and saying hello.

The day was still bright when I headed for Pleasanton. Saturday is a work day once every four weeks for this old man.

(Every other week also, but its only official on days like yesterday.)

The weather was just good enough so I did not even mind working. I drove along Stanley Boulevard, past the campaign signs Floyd Mori has erected beside the bicycle path, past Shadow Cliffs to the bend in the road near the dairy stand where one of George Oakes signs seemed to be peeking out of a hole.

I wondered whether someone had sabotaged George and whether that solid "O" in Oakes would leave some people looking for a fellow named Akes on the ballot.

Then I turned into Spring street, still relishing the intrusion of a dabble of springtime into the middle of winter and my meeting with young Mr. Brosnan.

"Remember," he had said in parting. "It's Brosnan. BROS N A N."

Those campaign signs

At a time when we're intolerant of illegal conduct on the part of public officials, it's especially striking to see some local candidates deliberately ignoring local ordinances.

We're speaking of the five 15th Assembly District candidates who have apparently sanctioned the installation of campaign signs throughout the valley.

Alameda and Contra Costa Counties as well as Pleasanton and Livermore have ordinances controlling the use of campaign signs on streets and property. Nearly all the ordinances were broken in the November election when some public works men made a career of collecting the illegally-placed placards.

The situation has recurred in the special election campaign for the seat left by the late Carlos Bee.

Breaking sign ordinances is not a crime of sufficient magnitude to warrant severe penalties.

But it is noteworthy that the very people who seek to legislate our laws in Sacramento are the same who break our laws — no matter how trivial — at home.

A worthy effort

Government programs designed to help the poor and needy seldom help the people they are intended to serve.

Bureaucracy and its clumsy red tape all too frequently stand in the way of connecting those in need and those who can help.

But when a program does help, it is worth note.

The Dublin—San Ramon

Exchange Club's annual Christmas drive for Livermore's Good Samaritan home is such a program.

This year the small service group collected four full truckloads of toys for children living through emergency circumstances. Without the club's efforts, they would not have had toys this holiday season.

The club also collected enough money from a variety of fund raising activities to provide scores of holiday dinners to families who otherwise would have had miserly meals indeed.

The club has maintained an attitude of modesty through the drive. "We didn't do anything. We just put out the boxes and the people in the community contributed the toys," one member said.

The club was thanked for its "unpretentious kindness" by one grateful recipient.

This year's program was especially poignant given the economic pinch that made many people who had always been givers suddenly become receivers.

The Exchange Club is to be commended for acting out the principles of community concern, love and brotherhood espoused in the by-laws.

There were 140 valley families who join in our commendation.

For Sunday, Jan. 12, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't try to be the center of attention. It will encourage another to step into the spotlight and try to upstage you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) The plans you've made for yourself today are likely to be overshadowed by the ideas of a companion. You'll have to switch.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) A source that you were expecting something material from will be temporarily cut-off from you.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're apt to reverse your position regarding a decision you thought was all worked out because of another's actions.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be extra-sensible about your health habits now. A good time to begin a diet if that old waistline has expanded.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't make the pursuit of pleasure your sole goal today or you may partake of too much of the good things.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Keep a toe in the door at this time in a matter you don't want to be excluded from or you could be locked out.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't try to commit important information to memory. Make notes to have an accurate frame of reference later.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You could do something silly today, like buying something only to leave it on the counter, if you're casual with possessions.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Yesterday you were a bit too obstinate; today you're overly complacent. Strive for the medium where you'll be most comfortable.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're very good at keeping confidential matters to yourself today, though you will be tempted to share what you know.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) A project you've been involved in for the past month or so will be terminated. Something better will be found shortly.

Jan. 12, 1975
This will be a year where you'll discard old interests and pursue the new. An interesting, more promising course will be found.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Rubber bridge? Be generous

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Oswald: "A good rubber bridge player should learn to be generous. He doesn't mind letting an opponent win a trick now and then as long as the lost trick does not cost his contract."

Jim: "Today's declarer was a little stingy. He had bid four but wanted to make six. He discarded a diamond on dummy's ace of clubs and led a heart to his ace; then he played the king of hearts. West showed out and the contract was now in jeopardy."

Oswald: "The way the cards lay there just was no way to bring it home. South tried to get a diamond discard on dummy's fourth spade but East ruffed the third spade lead and spoiled that plan."

Jim: "South had overlooked a generous safety play. East had played the eight of hearts on the first heart lead and South should have stuck in his nine. This would have cost him a trick if hearts had broken 2-2 but as it was would have insured his contract since East would never be able to lead a diamond through South's king."

Oswald: "If East had played the queen or jack of hearts on the first heart lead, South would go back to dummy with a spade; take a finesse against the last heart honor and wind up with an overtrick."

Don wrestlers take Dublin tournament

By STEVE MONA

The Amador Valley Dons captured the fourth annual Dublin Wrestling Invitational in sensational fashion yesterday afternoon.

Amador won the dual meet tourney by blasting Las Lomas, 66-6; Antioch, 46-11; and host school Dublin, 37-18.

The Dons were considered a pre-tournament favorite, but the manner in which they won could hardly have been anticipated. Dublin captured second place, as they rolled to a pair of victories before losing to Amador.

The Gaels demolished the Hayward Farmers, 42-17, in the opening round and slipped by eventual third place finisher El Cerrito, 32-31.

Keys to Amador's success were Aaron Pyfer, Ernie Zumbach, Rob Mayhue, and Rich Tiago.

Pyfer recorded a pair of victories in the 140 pound category, finishing with a first round pin of Dublin's Ken Fleming.

Zumbach, floating between the 175 and 191 pound divisions, recorded two pins and a forfeit win. At 191, he pinned Dublin's Bob Klein with 1:07 gone in the first period.

Mayhue had an easy time with Dublin heavyweight Bob Galant, recording a 12-2 decision to conclude the final meeting.

Tiago picked up a pair of victories. In the finals, he decisively 10-3, in tourney final.

Highlighting the Gaels' effort was the wrestling of Kevin Buckowatz and Kevin Dugan. The duo won three matches each.

After pinning Hayward's Glen Abbott (:41, first round) and El Cerrito's Tom Carr (1:48, second) in his first two 145 pound matches, Buckowatz decisively 11-2, over Amador's Matt Kendall.

Dugan pinned Art Heukin of Hayward 31 seconds into the second round of their 175 pound clash, then whitewashed El Cerrito's Tom Carlson, 14-zip. In the final, he pinned Mike Krikorian 1:50 into the first round.

Other individual winners for Amador in the championship meeting were Steve Potts (95) over Bryan Riggs, 10-3; Carlos Brown (103) by a pin over Dave Yu (:44, first); Dave Potts (112), 8-0, over John Davide; Art Brannan (135), 7-5, over Tom Lukehart; and Benny LaFever (165), 10-1, over Zane Bailey.

LHS matmen top Dons

Like the man with the worn-out shoes that walks a mile for a Camel cigarette, Gary Dimon of Livermore High had to walk six yards to wrap up the Cowboys' 28-24 wrestling win over Amador, Friday night in Livermore.

With the score reading 22-18 in Livermore's favor, the 191 pound match came up.

The Dons had no entry in that category, so Dimon took a stroll to the center of the mat and had his right arm raised, insuring the Cowboy's win in their East Bay Athletic League opener.

Amador's heavyweight Rob Mayhue closed the final margin to 28-24 when he nailed Gary Tennyson's shoulders to the mat with 1:28 expired in the second period.

Livermore 28, Amador 24
95 — Baird, L. pinned S. Potts, 1:47 first; 103 — Brown, A. pinned Paulo, 1:42 second; 112 — D. Potts, A. d. Payne, 6-3; 120 — Tiago, A. d. Nagel, 7-1; 127 — Jenkins, L. d. Zumbach, 9-0; 191 — Dimon, L. won by forfeit; Heavyweight — Mayhue, A. pinned Tennyson, 1:28 second

With the score tied at 12-12, Roger Capri and Mike Lewis came on to record a pair of clutch wins to vault the Pokes into a 19-12 lead.

Capri demolished the Dons' Matt Kendall, 15-1, in the 140 pound class to earn a four point superior decision.

Dons flatten Livermore

By DAVE WEBER

In a game that ceased to be a contest after less than two minutes, the overpowering Amador Valley High basketball team destroyed the Livermore Cowboys 86-58 before a screaming overflow crowd in Pleasanton Friday night.

The Dons opened the game pressing and forced the Cowboys into mistake after mistake until the score was 13-1 with just 2:01 gone.

Despite three first half time-out calls by 'Poke coach John Jones, Livermore failed to settle into an effort to whittle away at the huge Amador lead. Instead the Cowboys tried to get it all back at once, forcing wild shots and drives and falling for obvious fakes on defense in attempting to block shots.

When asked whether he had ordered the Dons to play a more wide open game than usual to achieve the easy win, taciturn Amador coach Skip Mohatt replied, "I don't know".

His stunned Livermore counterpart refused to comment on the Cowboy defeat. By the end of the first quarter the Dons led 28-13.

Amador played like a five-part human point machine getting 20 points by the 4:34 to go mark. As further evidence of the Dons' fine teamwork, Andy Finn scored 15 points in the initial stanza, only two from the outside.

The other thirteen came as a result of fine passing by Amador, particularly Phil Hansen, and a bit of hustle under the boards by Finn, who led the game with 13 rebounds.

Livermore did settle down for a while at the outset of the second period. The Cowboys, led by Ed St. Clair's three drives for buckets, scored 10 points to Amador's two during one 2:07 stretch only to return to their sloppy play of the quarter before when St. Clair was forced to the bench after drawing his fourth personal foul.

After the 6-5 center parked himself on the sidelines, the Dons went on a 15-2 tear of their own to remove any lingering doubts as to who would win the ballgame.

Livermore's last gasp was the third quarter, in which they actually outscored the Dons 15-11. However, with 5:26 left in the stanza, St. Clair fouled out and although his replacement Kirt Groth was able to reject a few Amador shots, the 'Pokes were finished.

Finn was awesome in topping all scorers with 28 points. The 6-7 senior is all the way back from a severe injury in near record time, as he too swatted away several field goal attempts.

Indicative of how the floundering Cowboys were doing, St. Clair led Livermore with 14 points despite playing identical number of minutes.

In addition Finn definitely had help from his Don teammates, though. Phil Hansen, who seems to hold a patent on high - arching jumpers out of the corner, disturbed the net for 20 points.

Jeff Hine, who added 10 points, was also tough on the boards for Amador, collecting nine rebounds.

Wolves' upset attempt falls short

By TED BROCK

Jim Hogeboom's off-balance jump shot from close range rolled off the front rim with two seconds left to play, ending San Ramon's hopes for an upset victory over Granada Friday night.

The Matadors won, 68-67, giving them a 1-1 EBAL record while San Ramon's mark dipped to 0-2.

A free throw by Mike Fracisco with 55 seconds left proved to be the deciding point.

Seconds later, Granada's Rich Gutierrez intercepted the Wolf inbound pass. It was the high point of the evening for the Mats' zone pass, which had sprung more than one leak earlier on.

Gutierrez was quickly fouled by Hogeboom, but his free throw attempt was short.

The Mats' Dave Campbell controlled an ensuing jump ball, but center Lee Brennan tried to plow through two SR defenders for a sprawling lay - in and was awarded his fifth personal foul.

San Ramon inbounding shakily but beat the press this time, crossing center court with 21 seconds showing.

Unable to penetrate the left side of Granada's zone defense, the Wolves were forced to go to center Don Krueger for their last pop. Krueger came out to the right of the foul line for a 17 foot jumper with 10 seconds left.

The ball bounced straight back to Krueger, who now had a 12-footer from the same angle. This one caromed to the right, where Hogeboom enjoyed inside position and a three-foot opportunity.

It was an uncharacteristic ending — three San Ramon shots in the final 12 seconds — to a game in which Granada's height and muscle had shut the Wolves off both boards. During most of the contest, the Wolves had been forced to rely on the outside shooting of Hogeboom and Jim Kaldem.

Picking up where Monte Vista had left off Tuesday night, Granada aimed its first half defense at stopping the mobility of Wolf forward Joe Fisher. The Mats held the SR preseason scoring leader to a field goal and a free throw before the break, but their makeshift four - man - box - zone and - a - man - following - Fisher often left an SR player open for a lay - in or a 15 - footer.

San Ramon struggled from a 16-13 first quarter deficit to tie it at 36 at half.

But the Wolves came down with hardening of the hands at the outset of the third quarter, and Granada took advantage of SR's ball control problems to open an uneasy seven-point lead toward the end of the period. They were, as usual, beating the Wolves inside on offense.

It was 53-48, Granada with a quarter to go, the Matadors still in firm command of the backboards. But a 15-foot jumper by Dave Eyster of San Ramon was answered by a Gutierrez throwaway, and Kaldem connected with 5.20 left to put the Wolves within one.

Kaldem hit a free throw at 3:22 to bring San Ramon even, 61-61.

Not entirely out of their ball control lapse, the Wolves turned one miscue into a Krueger lay in to go ahead, 65-63, the assist coming from Eyster's shoe.

Scott Campbell hit a 10-footer with 2:09 left to make it 65-65. The Mats went up by two when Fracisco stole a pass in the backcourt and laid it in with 1:23 remaining.

Kaldem hit two free throws to tie it again at 1:13, and the scoring came to an end with Fracisco's free throw just into the final minute.

Livermore AL to get new field

LIVERMORE — The Livermore American Little League's traditional ballfield shortage will be relieved somewhat when a new field, just approved, goes in behind Jackson Avenue School.

The Eastside facilities will be reserved for Livermore American, April 1 to July 1, from 4:30 p.m. to dusk weekdays, 8 a.m. to dusk Saturdays. Otherwise, it will be open to public use.

After getting approval of the plan from Don Larsen, Jackson principal, and from the Livermore Area Recreation and Park District (LARPD), the Little League got the go - ahead Tuesday night from the Livermore school board.

What's new in Pleasanton?

Free checking for life.
No minimum balance required.

Imagine... a lifetime of free checking with no minimum balance to maintain! It sounds too good to be true—but Valley Bank has just opened a new branch office in Pleasanton, and we're making free checking a reality for our customers every day. Just make an initial deposit of $50 and you'll be free of those monthly per-check service charges. The only cost to you is the normal charge for imprinting your checks. The only way you can lose your account is to overdraw—and you can avoid that by taking advantage of our overdraft protection service.

There's another reason why you might want to think about banking with us. We know how busy your workweek can be, so we offer our full range of banking services on Saturday. Lobby and Drive-Up are both open Saturday from 9:00 AM until 12:00 PM. Free Checking for Life and Saturday Banking. Also available at our Livermore and Dublin offices.

LIVER, BACON & ONION RECIPE

Shake liver slices in flour in a paper bag. Season with salt and pepper; brown quickly on both sides in hot shortening in a heavy skillet. Add ½ cup beef bouillon (dissolve 1 beef bouillon cube in ½ cup hot water) and reduce heat. Cook gently for 20 to 25 minutes. Top with thick slices of bacon; fried separately and serve with fried onion rings (use the frozen kind if time is short), fluffy mashed potatoes, and a favorite vegetable. Start meal with a tossed salad and serve with garlic bread. SPECIAL NOTE: The above cooking time is for pork and beef liver. If calf liver is used, reduce cooking time to 15 to 18 minutes.
